REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD

To the Citizens of Hopkinton:

Because of the favorable reactions to our report of last year, we are continuing this year to give you a more comprehensive report of your school system. You will find reports of all the officials of the district, as well as reports of the teachers in the Junior and Senior High School. In addition there are regular statistical reports.

We have felt a keen sense of loss at the death, on January second of this year, of Dr. Charles S. F. Whitcomb. He was a wise counselor and a valuable member of the board. He was vitally interested in the welfare of the children of the town and in the problems of the district. The schools were well represented at the funeral and brief memorial services were held in the various schools.

We would remind you that the statistical and financial reports, here presented, have reference to the school year ending last June. This is necessary because the school year and the town year do not coincide. It is important that any careful consideration of these reports be based on this fact.

Our thanks are extended to the Public Service Company, who through the local branch, have given the use of a new electric stove to the Home Economics classes. This stove will be replaced at the beginning of each school year with a new stove. We would also express our thanks to Miss Jessie Gould for the gift of a mimeograph, which is proving of great value to the High School; and to Mr. A. C. Huntoon for the gift of a large flag.

The budget for the coming year has been worked out carefully. Based on the experience of previous years, it appears to be the very minimum amount upon which the district can operate efficiently.

The closing of two schools and the readjustment of the transportation set-up is referred to in the Superintendent's report. This gives us one of the finest transportation systems in the state and resulted in some economy to the district.

The board appreciates the splendid cooperation of the officials and teachers, as well as the fine spirit and interest shown by the citizens. We realize, as you do, that a town is no better than its school system, and, on that basis, are trying to work with you to make a better town and a better school system. Constructive suggestions and criticism are always welcome.

Respectfully submitted,

LLOYD S. EMERSON,
LAURIS B. WHITMAN,
Hopkinton School Board.

From the preceding table the following may be noted:

1. Each school had full 360 half-day sessions, the number required by law. West Hopkinton had 362.
2. The number of pupils remains about the same, also the average membership.
3. The percent of attendance is slightly below the state average.
4. There has been a decrease in the number of cases of tardiness. Several schools had less than one per pupil. The total unrepeatd registration of the District was 271. Of this, six were tuition pupils. In addition, three elementary pupils and five high school pupils were attending school in other districts. This makes a total of 273 pupils residing in the District, and attending public schools. This is 15 less than last year.

On account of the small number of pupils at the school at West Hopkinton the pupils residing there were transported to Contoocook beginning in September, 1937. The Hopkinton Grammar school was also left with very few members when the sixth grade passed on to the Junior High school. For this reason the Main Road School was closed and the pupils transported to Hopkinton instead. In place of the old arrangement of having the first four grades in the primary room, grades 5-6 in the grammar room, grades 4-5-6 were assigned to the grammar room, and grades 1-2-3 to the primary room. The number of pupils in each room was thus made more nearly equal.

By this readjustment and the corresponding changes in transportation of pupils a considerable saving of expense resulted for the District.

At the close of the schools in June two of our elementary teachers resigned after long and faithful service,—Mrs. Maud W. Cilley, who taught grades 5 and 6, and Mrs. Dorothy Q. Gillingham, grades 3 and 4, both at the Contoocook elementary school.

At the high school building a new fire escape was put in place. The old one was unsafe and had been condemned by state inspectors. Further improvement was made at the high school by partitioning off a small room in the lower hall be used as a model room by the Domestic Arts pupils, and also to serve as a place where pupils who are ill may retire until taken home. Many smaller improvements have been made in all the schools. This year has been one of distinct advancement in many ways. Yet we have many opportunities for progress.

The manual training shop for the high school is small, poorly lighted and heated. If this building could be moved quite close to the high school building it might be attached to the heating and lighting systems there. At the same time it should be made higher and more windows added.

At the Hopkinton Village school more room will be needed for grades 4-5-6. It is possible to alter this room so that necessary space could be provided.

In general the work of the year was one of advancement approaching more closely to the needs of the community. We wish to thank the parents, friends, pupils, teachers and board for their interest and assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN A. SINCLAIR,
Superintendent.

REPORT OF SCHOOL NURSE

To the Hopkinton School Board:

My report for the year ending June 30, 1937, as part time nurse is as follows:

Number of school visits	126
Number of home visits for school children	61
Number of home visits for pre-school children	30
Number of children taken to tonsil clinics	3
Number of children who had defects, and parents notified	74
Number of children who had defects corrected	53

A clinic was held in July 1937 for babies and pre-school children.

Number of children examined	33
Toxoids (Immunization against diphtheria)	7
Defects	22
Normal	11

This clinic was sponsored by the State Department of Health with the Hopkinton Public Health Association, Miss Helena Connolly, R. N., State Nurse, assisting.

As a matter of school routine, yearly examinations are made and many defects of eyes, teeth, etc., are corrected. These examinations are in accordance with the regulations of the State Board of Education. A notice is sent, or a home visit is made by the nurse, to parent or guardian as to symptoms of defects and they are advised to see their family physician, as nurses cannot diagnose cases.

There is great need of a dental clinic, but so far we have not been able to arrange for one.

In closing, I wish to thank Dr. Tarbell, Members of the School Board, teachers and parents for any assistance given me in my work.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY AGNES MILTON, R. N.
School Nurse.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT

There seems to be in modern times a great tendency to a greater "ease" of life. Even in the theory of education we find this to be true. Practically in education this takes the form of a great distaste for home study. There even seems to be times when the idea of home study is regarded as a thing of the past and to be avoided as one does the plague. To those of us actively engaged in the field of education it seems that more work must be done by the pupil at home.

This should start in a moderate degree in grade seven and gradually increase at least until the junior year when a pupil should know how to study. Certainly those thinking of going to college should spend at least an average of two hours daily in home preparation. This amount will vary according to the ability of the student.

During the past year the headmaster taught Economics and Sociology, Algebra I, and General Mathematics, Geometry, Modern European History, and Commercial Geography. Algebra and General Mathematics were taught to two different groups during the same period in order that a pupil not wanting to take algebra could take an easier course. One of the newer and most interesting of subjects taught in high schools today is that of Economics and Sociology given in this high school as a year's work while in others a year may be devoted to Economics and a year to Sociology.

The units in Economics are: 1. The Consumption of Wealth; 2. The Production of Wealth; 3. Exchange; 4. Distribution; 5. Public Finance. These are in turn composed of the following topics among others: land, labor, capital, the government, money, credit and banking, international trade, tariff, rent, wages, profits, the labor problem, radical proposals.

Sociology deals with the Creation and growth of Culture, Human Nature, Human Adaptation to Environment, Health, Population, Crime, Education, Social Progress and Public Opinion. From this course a pupil should gain an interest in and knowledge of the modern financial and sociological problems which are the basis of a large share of modern, non-fiction writings.

The chief value of a course in Modern European History should be the development of an ability to analyze modern current events in the light of past happenings. One does not need to study this much to realize the very close correlation of modern events with the years immediately preceding the World War which is the nucleus of the course in Modern European History. Our chief difficulty in this course was the difficulty with which reliable material in quantity could be found on events since the year 1920.

The past year was marked by a great deal of sickness and our attendance record suffered thereby. Attendance and tardiness records are always subject to great improvement. It would be a real pleasure to have both distinctly above the state average. Dismissals from school during the school sessions will be granted only on the presentation of a written request before the dismissal takes place. This protects the school but further protects the pupil and the parent against parties unknown.

I wish personally to extend my appreciation to all parents for their cooperation. In the last analysis teachers and parents are striving for the same achievement and all to the best for the pupil. Parents are requested to "talk things over" with us at all times. We are your employees and wish to work to accomplish better things.

Sincerely submitted

C. MAURICE GRAY.

HOME ECONOMICS

Our high school home economics program is planned so that four separate courses are offered over a period of two years. In order to do this the freshmen and sophomores are combined and on alternate years study "Textiles and Clothing" or "Foods and Nutrition", while the Juniors and Seniors combined are taking the Courses "Home, Its Cares and Management" or "Family and Its Members."

During the past year (1936-'37) the two courses offered were "Textiles and Clothing" and "Home, Its Care and Management."

All high school home economics courses have had a ninety minute period every day, and each girl has also been required to complete three or four home projects with a total of at least one hundred and thirty-five hours.

The units covered last year in the "Clothing and Textile" courses were :—

1. Clothing Selection.
2. Clothing Purchase
3. Clothing Fabrics.
4. Clothing Construction.
5. Care of Clothing.
6. Household Fabrics.
7. Children's Garments.
8. Leisure Time Activities related to clothing or textiles.

The types of sewing articles made in class by each girl were pajamas, cotton dress, wool skirt, silk blouse, underwear, and household articles.

In the "Home, Its Care and Management" course the units covered were :—

1. House Construction.
2. Furnishing the Home.
3. Management of the Home.
4. Home Finances.
5. Home Grounds.

The seventh and eighth grades each have two eighty minute periods a week, and this time has been divided between clothing and foods work. In these grades the fundamental stitches and seams of sewing, the proper use of the sewing machine, the use of simple commercial patterns, and the care and simple repairing processes of clothing have been taught. This knowledge was applied in the making of holders, towels, slips, and simple cotton dresses, and patching and darning by the seventh grade; and making pajamas, nightgowns, dresses, embroidered articles, and patching and darning in the eighth grade. The girls of these two classes who belonged to the Girl Scouts also made their uniforms in class.

In the foods classes of these two grades, the principles involved in preparing and serving the simpler types of food are taught, and how to plan and prepare simpler meals. The course is planned to teach them how to choose their food wisely, and how and when to eat it, as well as how to prepare and serve it.

All of our Home Economics work is planned so that the girls can make practical use of it in their homes, and our home project program is our means of "tying up" our work in school with the home. Every course in our home economics program has a definite place in training girls for a better home and community life.

Respectfully submitted,

IRENE W. GEORGE.

ENGLISH REPORT

Because the number of students in the ninth grade English class exceeded the number of textbooks, the class was divided into two divisions. Although division according to ability was impossible, there was a definite advantage to the students because they could receive more individual attention. This was particularly true in the smaller group, where some of the work was so arranged that the students could work at their own rate of speed.

A new text, Milton's Minor Poems and Modern Descriptive Poetry, was adopted and proved to be a more enjoyable and satisfactory means of presenting the classic. A subscription to Harpers Magazine was obtained for the use of students interested in worthwhile periodic literature. Many of the articles proved a valuable supplement to class work.

Feeling that the usual "oral topic" was not a sufficient challenge to seniors, we adopted the forum type of discussion. One class period a week was given over to the work, with the students taking turns leading. It was the task of the leader to present the problem for discussion, and in a brief talk outline the various aspects of the situation, leading the class in the discussion that followed. Each student was expected to contribute something to the discussion. Some of the topics discussed were the Supreme Court question, the movies, the employment of married women in business, strikes, highway safety, and vocational opportunities for young people.

A new method of criticizing oral work was adopted this year. As the pupil gave his talk before the class, the teacher wrote the suggestions for improvement on an ordinary sales slip, making a carbon copy so that both teacher and pupil could have a permanent record of progress made. This method does away with the embarrassment caused to the pupil when the attention of the entire class is called to his errors.

The school did not participate in the interscholastic debating contests this year but did enter the one-act play contest sponsored by the state department. Each of the seniors wrote a play, one of which was chosen, submitted to the judges, and presented before the school in assembly.

The team of seniors which went to Keene to take the English grammar test was not able to equal last year's record but placed tenth among all the schools participating.

In order to foster interest in letter writing, names of foreign boys and girls wishing to correspond with American boys and girls were obtained through a Boston agency. Several students have already received very interesting letters from France, Belgium, Germany, Holland, Argentina, and New Zealand.

Respectfully submitted,

CECILE M. MARTIN.

AGRICULTURE

In agriculture 30 periods were devoted to orcharding, dairying, and poultry, 5 period to potatoes, 8 to small fruit, 13 to beef cattle, 10 to sheep, and 50 to shopwork, which included woodworking, sharpening of farm tools, repair of farm machinery, forge work, and rope work.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Warren Kimball, Hopkinton High School has a new sprayer. Mr. Kimball bought the sprayer for the school to use, with the understanding that the agriculture class would take care of his orchard and also the sprayer. We have full charge of this orchard of one hundred trees. This includes the picking and packing of fruit, control of borers, fertilizing, pruning, and spraying. The orchard is located close by the school and the arrangement is working out ideal for all of us.

With the spray program as a background we have formed an agricultural club and with success we expect to affiliate with the national organization of Future Farmers of America, and be known as the Rising Sons Chapter. We plan to send a representative to the national convention to be held in Kansas City sometime in October. There were twenty-five members in the agriculture classes this year.

In addition to the regular spray program carried on during class periods the boys sprayed 1,921 fruit trees and 104 maples. These were all done out of school time, evenings and Saturdays.

The class spent 6 periods establishing a lawn in front of the Grammar School on Academy Hill. This we hope was the first step in our plan for landscaping the school grounds. The work included, plowing, harrowing, levelling, and seeding it down. Next year we hope to be able to add some shrubbery to it.

JOHN L. BABSON.

ENGLISH REPORT FOR GRADES SEVEN AND EIGHT

These two classes have completed the study of the literature contained in the Prose and Poetry book for each grade respectively. The pupils of the seventh grade correlated their art and drawing with the study of Treasure Island. Each one made a booklet containing cartoons, pictures and pictographs of the characters and facts of the book. To improve their written work they also included in the booklets, character sketches, a one-act play, and synonyms of many words to increase their vocabulary.

Some of the projects submitted were flour and salt maps of Treasure Island, miniature constructions of Admiral Benbow Inn and the chest of Billy Bones with its contents.

The majority of children are apt to dislike poetry unless especial care is taken in introducing it. Both grades had poem days at which time each person read his favorite poem to the class. It helped them in their enunciation of words and developed a better understanding of poetry.

Because of differences in the understanding of grammar, both grades were divided into A and B classes. In the A divisions the requirements according to the Program of Studies were met and then surplus time was spent on advanced work. There were seven in the eighth grade in this division who will be very well fitted to carry on ninth grade work easily. In the B divisions the motives tended toward a better use of practical grammar in speaking and writing, not so much stress being placed on technical grammar.

To promote more interest and to help children to improve spoken grammar and sentence structure, we started an "ain't" box. A different individual had charge of it each week. If a pupil made a grammatical error, his name and mistake were placed on a slip of paper, which was put in the box. On Friday each one had to write the correction ten times. It really did make most of the class grammar conscious.

We tried to bring in a few lessons in etiquette in our English course by dramatizing the correct way of introducing people and taking telephone messages.

Respectfully submitted,

VERA BRADBURY.

MANUAL TRAINING DEPARTMENT

The work carried on by grades seven and eight this year was very extensive for so small a class. Two large projects were undertaken and completed.

One of these was the coat rack that was built for the school. Both grades took an active part in constructing this and seemed to enjoy the work. The same plan was used for this coat rack as had been used on the one up stairs. The rack was stained and varnished to match the woodwork. The boys took a great amount of pride in their work and I believe they did a very good job.

The second class projects was the making of tool cabinets for the shop. These cabinets were made from discarded book cupboards. The shelves were removed and tools arranged thus making it possible to arrange and keep our tools in some kind of order. The doors have been equipped with latches and as a result are more secure.

The Annual Bird House project sponsored this year by Mr. Timothy Burns, was entered into by all boys. This year the judges announced that it was the hardest group of houses they had judged. Houses of all descriptions were exhibited and much enthusiasm was shown. The prize money of ten dollars was divided so that every boy who exhibited received some kind of a prize. This was done because of the fact that the houses were all so good and because the judges thought it would create more interest next year. The winners of the first four prizes:

1. Bruce Symonds.
2. Eben Dustin.
3. Herbert Sargent.
4. Dwight Anderson.

Many small projects were completed by both grades. These were individual projects made by each boy for himself.

Among the projects we find such things as :

- | | |
|--------------------|--------------------|
| 1. Taborets | 8. Book Racks |
| 2. Footstools | 9. Door Stops |
| 3. Magazine Racks | 10. Window Stubs |
| 4. Book Ends | 11. Tie Racks |
| 5. Sink Racks | 12. Letter Holders |
| 6. Pencil Pointers | 13. Toys |
| 7. Model Boats | 14. Puzzles |

In closing may I offer a few suggestions as to how our shop could be improved with but little cost to the school in comparison to the value derived from them.

1. A well lighted building.
3. A well heated building.
3. A better equipped building.

Respectfully submitted,

STUART CARTER.

SUPERVISED PLAYS

One very worthwhile change in our school program this year was the planning of supervised play periods for grades seven and eight.

Due to the fact that the school grounds are so crowded with Senior High people during noon hours, the Junior High does not have the opportunity to play together. This supervised play period is therefore a very good opportunity for them to play together as a group.

The girls are under the supervision of Miss Bradbury and the boys under Mr. Carter. Many games, etc., are taken up and each one gives us an opportunity to teach them team play and sportsmanship as well as giving them the much needed exercise and sunshine.

Most of the games so far are limited due to lack of materials to seasonable games but we hope to make progress and to add to our equipment each year. Among the games taken up so far we have:

- Football
- Softball
- Dodgeball
- Basketball
- Many relays.

This next year we hope to be able to make much of this project as it has many opportunities.

Respectfully submitted,

STUART CARTER.
